Editor Needed for Reviews of Geophysics

We seek a new Editor to join the editorial board of Reviews of Geophysics with a broad interest and experience in the field of Solid Earth. Desired areas of expertise may include volcano-tectonics, volcanic hazard, hotspots, planetary geology. This additional position will expand the editorial board from seven to eight.

Applicants should be dynamic, well-organized, independent-minded, and even-handed scientists with robust knowledge in this field. Previous editorial experience is preferable. As Editor you should be committed to strengthening Reviews of Geophysics as the leading journal in the field of geophysics and be proactive in attracting innovative contributions.

This will involve promoting the journal, especially at conferences you attend, and helping to write highlights of selected papers published in the journal. We hold regular teleconferences throughout the year, as well as a full editorial board meeting at the Fall AGU Meeting, to discuss management and strategic goals of the journal.

If you would like to be considered for this position with Reviews of Geophysics, please send your curriculum vitae with a letter of interest via email to fabio.florindo@ingv.it.

If you would like to nominate a highly qualified colleague, then please send a letter of recommendation to the same email address. Please make sure that you specify “Reviews of Geophysics Editor Search” in the subject line of the email.

For additional information, visit “Be an editor” tab on https://www.agu.org/Publish-with-AGU/Publish/Publishing-Guidelines.

Review of applications will begin immediately.